Occupation of Japan 'Going Splendidly'

U.S. Forces Will Be Cut In Germany

From 2,500,000 to About 400,000 Before Winter's End, Eisenhower States

BERLIN, Aug. 30—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower said today that the 2,500,000 American troops now in Germany would be reduced to a fixed occupation force of about 400,000 well before the end of the winter.

The American commander said the importation of food from the United States to feed Germans was inescapable, but that he did not mean he intended to fatten the Germans.

He said he hoped to have the Germans elect their own officials in city and rural areas this fall.

Eisenhower declined to predict how long the Allied occupation of Germany would last, saying this was a matter of higher government policy, but added that the Americans did not expect to stay here forever.

He said the intensity of mutual suspicion among Allied powers in Germany was giving way in the face of frankness and honesty. He said his recent trip to Russia revealed to him many things that showed remarkable planning for the welfare of the masses.

In Smiling Mood

It was Eisenhower's first formal press conference in Berlin. The American commander was in a smiling mood. He had just emerged from a meeting of the Allied control council.

He declared that the biggest current task was keeping the German nation in existence this winter with food, fuel and shelter.

Describing the redeployment of United States troops homeward as being constantly accelerated, Eisenhower said that even the estimate of 400,000 men as an occupation force might be reduced later, provided the Germans did more for themselves and less policing became necessary.

Eisenhower indicated that canned meat probably would be one of the larger items in American food exports to Germany. He said he personally favored a ration of 2,000 calories daily for Germans, on advice of physicians that this was the minimum level at which disease could be prevented.

Must Have Agreement

He professed, however, to have no idea when that level could be reached. He said a common agreement among all the Allies was necessary, or there would be a stampede of Germans into the zone allowing the highest rations.

The general said German coal production would be shared on a priority basis among liberated countries and that German needs would be filled last. He expressed sympathy with Holland, Belgium, France and Luxembourg over their critical fuel problems.

Sedalian's Relative Safe in Manchuria

Mrs. William H Powell, West Seventh street, received word today from her son William H. Powell, Jr., and Mrs. Powell of Albuquerque, N. M., that the latter's son-in-law, Lemoyne Stiles is listed among the personnel of the prisoners of war at Camp Hoten, Mukden, Manchuria.

Lemoyne Stiles is the husband of Mary Powell, deceased. He was among the American soldiers captured on Bataan and taken by the Japanese to the interior of Manchuria. His return to the states soon is anticipated.

Veterans' Contact Office for Sedalia

The Veterans Administration has authorized a contact office for Sedalia, which will open as soon as desirable space can be obtained and personnel recruited, according to a telegram received today by George H. Scruton, editor of the Sedalia Democrat, from Marion T. Bennett, member of Congress from the 6th Missouri district.

The manager of the Veterans' Administration in Kansas City has authority to proceed, the message states further.

Historic Flag To be Unfurled At Surrender

HALSEY'S FLAGSHIP, Tokyo Bay, Aug. 30—(AP)—Admiral Halsey's Third fleet will unfurl an historic United States flag Sunday at the formal surrender of Japan

The flag, a faded, 31-star ensign which Commodore Perry flew on his mission to open trade with Japan 92 years ago, was delivered yesterday by Navy Lt. John K. Bremyer of McPherson, Kas., after a record-breaking 124-hour flight of 9,500 miles from Annapolis, Md.

The flag will be hoisted on Halsey's flagship, the USS Missouri, as suggested by Capt. H. A. Baldridge, curator of the naval academy museum at Annapolis.

Objective of Lend-Lease is Now Realized

Truman States 42 Billion Should Be Written Off

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—President Truman notified congress today that the more than $42,000,000,000 this country spent on lend-lease aid to its allies should, in the main, be written off the books.

The reason—made clear in a lengthy report Mr. Truman sent to Capitol Hill — is that the administration believes the United States received three things more important than a dollar basis settlement. They are:

1. Victory over Germany and Japan.
2. More than $5,600,000,000 through last March in reverse lend-lease .
3. A commitment from all nations receiving lend-lease to join in organizing postwar international trade on the basis of lowering barriers.

In a letter accompanying the report, Mr. Truman told the lawmakers:

"With the defeat of the Axis powers, whose ruthless plan for world conquest and enslavement came so close to succeeding, the United States has realized the major objective for which lend-lease aid has been extended.

To Peacetime Basis

The president has ordered lend-lease operations halted, effective V-J day, and already has cut off requisitions for supplies which formerly would have been ordered under the mutual aid program.

Meanwhile, arrangements are being worked out with lend-lease countries to switch their commerce over to a peacetime basis. American officials will begin conversations with a British delegation next week for some sort of credit substitute.

Summing up the gigantic program, Mr. Truman said: "Each of our principal fighting partners has contributed to the pool of armed might in accordance within full abilities and capabilities."

Now, he added, the lend-lease arrangements are being wound up in an "expeditious and orderly manner, subject to military needs for the movement of troops or for occupation purposes."

Hero Found Alive

Maj. Greg Boyington of Okanogan, Wash., Marine flying hero of the Solomons campaign who had been missing since January, 1944, is reported alive in Tokyo. Major Boyington, Flying Tiger pilot before he reenlisted in the Marines to become commander of a fighter squadron, held the record for Jap planes shot down, at the time he was reported missing.

Whole Country To Blame for Pearl Harbor

President Truman Tells Newsmen at Conference Today

WASHINGTON, Aug 30—(AP)— President Truman announced today that he will not order courts martial in the Pearl Harbor disaster

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—President Truman declared today he thought the whole country, as much as any individual. was responsible for the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Mr. Truman told a news conference he had no objection to a court martial but didn't intend to order one.

In addition, he said he always had favored a unity of command for the army and navy, but didn't want to amplify his views on that now.

Answering a barrage of questions based on the release yesterday of official reports by boards of inquiry which investigated the events leading to Pearl Harbor, the chief executive said he had read the documents carefully.

Result of Policy

And, he said, he had come to the conclusion the whole thing was a result of the policy of the country itself. It wasn't ready for preparedness, he asserted.

Preparedness moves by the late President Roosevelt were stifled, Mr. Truman said, and Mr. Roosevelt was villified for preparedness statements.

So, he said, the country was as much to blane as any individual.

The president acknowledged that he had made a false statement about Pearl Harbor while he was in the senate. In a magazine article last fall, Mr. Truman had said the army and navy commanders at the Pacific bastion were not on speaking terms.

A reporter reminded him of that today.

Grinning, Mr. Truman remarked that things come back to haunt you.

Best Information He Had

Apparently, from the now public reports, he said, what he had written for the magazine was not a statement of fact. But, he added, it was based on the best information he had at the time.

Questioned about "reports that you are going to order the army and navy to institute court martial" proceedings against certain persons, the president said he was not.

He added that he did not think he had any authority to order them.

Told that some members of congress seem to think there should be courts martial so that accused officers could have their side of the story told, the president said he had no objection to that.

But he said he knew of no reason why they couldn't make their side public without military trials. He said he would put no muzzle on them.

Red Points to Buy 28 Per Cent More

Canned Milk Becomes Ration Free on Sunday

WASHINGTON,, Aug. 30—(AP)—Red points will buy about 28 per cent more meat, 50 per cent more cheese, and 25 per cent more butter and margarine beginning Sunday

Canned milk becomes ration free.

Announcing these sharp reductions in red point values today, Price Administrator Chester Bowles attributed them to larger allocations by the agriculture department and improved distribution.

Only in the case of fats and oils is the situation tighter than in August, Bowles reported. And he added there is no indication of an early improvement there.

Estimating the average decrease in the point value of meats at about 28 per cent, the OPA chief said both housewives and restaurants will be able to buy more meat than at any time since last March.

He asserted, however, that the situation still does not permit the end of meat rationing "because supplies continue to be tighter in many places over the country." He would not guess when the end might come.

Meat is Down

Steaks and roasts will be down from 2 to 3 points a pound; hamburger 2 and lamb and veal, 1 to 3 points. Pork steaks, chops and roasts go down 1 to 2 points; all bacon 2 points and spareribs drop 3 points.

Most meats that now have a value of 2 to 3 points go down 1 point.

Creamery butter, as unofficially announced earlier, will cost 12 points. This decrease of 4 makes its point value the lowest since May, 1944, and only half the value it commanded until mid-July. Margarine also goes down from 14 to 12 points.

In addition to making canned milk point free for home consumption, the OPA removed all restrictions on its use by manufacturers, hotels, restaurants and other establishments.

Points for all kinds of rationed cheese were cut in half.

Sends $275 to Pay Old Bill

L. J. Harned, prosecuting attorney, this morning received a letter from Hugh A. E. Johnston of Richmond, California, former resident of Sedalia, in which was enclosed a check for $275 in payment for a liquor license from August 5, 1940 to July 1, 1941.

Mr. Johnston explained he operated a bar at Main street and Ohio avenue and had not paid for his license during that period. Being indebted to Pettis county for the license he mailed the check to Mr. Harned not knowing who the county clerk is at this time.

Mr. Harned said the check would be turned over to the county treasurer and he would be given credit for the amount. No record was found where he was delinquent in the amount, nor where he operated a place at that time. It is customary for a dealer to go to the county clerk and pay for his license. Failing to report at that time, it is the supposition the county officers probably believed he was out of business.

Sedalian Is Member of Group Leading Invasion

Kansas Citian First Marine To Reach Base

By Al Dopking

WITH ADMIRAL HALSEY, TOKYO BAY, Aug. 30—(AP)—The first American carrier plane to land on Yokosuka's naval airfield today was a torpedo bomber by Lt. J. H. Connors, New York, and carrying Capt. Herbert S. Duckworth, commanding officer of the Carrier Cowpens.

With them was Lt. H. L. McMaster, Bakersfield, Calif., as interpreter, and Marine Pfc. B. F. McCarty, (2717 Elmwood) Kansas City, Mo.

McCarty was the first marine to reach the Yokoshuka naval plane base; he landed before the Fourth Marine Regiment came ashore.

Seventeen carrier planes, in all, from the air group 15, landed in the initial flight.

Captain Duckworth immediately established a control tower to guide incoming transport planes which Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger said were to arrive at the rate of one every two minutes for the remainder of the day.

The Japanese, unusually cooperative, had trucks and interpreters ready. Windows had been blown out of administration buildings by American bombs, but the Nipponese had cleaned up all debris before the occupation forces landed.

An American flag was raised at the naval airdrome at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Wednesday, Central War Time).

Wainwright Shaken as he Visits Manila

Welcomed on Behalf of Allies And Philippines

By Dean Schedler

(Editor's Note: Dean Schedler, Associated Press War Correspondent who greeted Lt. Gen. Wainwright at Manila today, last saw the hero of Corregidor just before that desperately-defended American stronghold fell to the Japanese. Schedler was the last American newsman to leave Bataan..

MANILA, Aug. 30—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, pale from his years in enemy prison camps, stepped from his plane today enroute from Chungking to Tokyo to witness Japan's surrender. He saw a Manila he "wouldn't recognize," it is so overflowing with Allied military power.

Wearing three large old-style stars on his shirt, Wainwright was visibly shaken by his return to the city he saw fall, across Manila bay from his last Philippines battleground.

Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, General MacArthur's intelligence officer, welcomed Wainwright on behalf of the supreme commander, and President Sergio Somena greeted him on behalf of the Phillipine commonwealth.

Aides With Him

The ranking British officer, C. H. Garidner and Vice Adm Jas. Kauffman, American naval officer commanding the Philippine sea frontier, represented the navy at the hero's welcome.

With Wainwright were his aides Lt. Col. John Pugh and Maj. Thomas Dooley, his chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe, and his orderly, Sgt. Herbert Carroll.

Wainwright, accepting with thanks MacArthur's invitation to witness Japan's surrender aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay, had asked that his aides be permitted to accompany him.

General MacArthur Arrives in Japan And Sets up Headquarters in Yokohama As Country's Military Ruler; Hand Picked American Troops Swarm Out of the Skies And in From the Sea in Unbroken Stream

By Leonard Milliman
Associated Press Staff Writer

General MacArthur landed triumphantly in Japan today with 18,150 battleclad occupation forces and found the bloodless "invasion" "going splendidly."

The Supreme Allied Commander established his headquarters in bomb-shattered Yokohama. Adm. Halsey ran up his four-star pennant at Yokosuka, transforming Nippon's second largest naval base into the first U. S. Navy shore headquarters in Japan. Nearby Atsugi airdrome was alive with paratroopers, arriving in the greatest mass flight the Pacific has ever seen.

Almost simultaneously a strong British fleet moved into Hong Kong, to reoccupy that crown colony. American minesweepers began clearing explosives out of Chinese ports to reopen the orient to occidental forces and commerce.

Find Japanese In Tokyo are Still Insolent

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30—Merrill Mueller, NBC correspondent with the occupied forces in Japan, said in a broadcast over the American army controlled radio Tokyo today, he had already toured downtown Tokyo and found the Japanese there mostly "still insolent."

Mueller spoke from the Yokohama studios of the radio, saying that he had attempted to make a broadcast from the Tokyo studios and had been informed that General MacArthur had suspended all overseas broadcast from the station.

He described the famed "Tokyo Rose," Japan's woman broadcaster who specialized in attempting to make American service men homesick, as a "modest, nondescript little woman," who "looked on," as he was trying to get past sentries into Tokyo studio.

Japanese Turn Fleet Over to US Officers

By Hal Boyle

YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Tokyo Bay, Aug. 30 —(AP)— Five hours after the first United States Marine stepped ashore on Japan two Nipponese admirals formally surrendered this shattered home base of her vanished fleet to American commanders in a brief ceremony.

The surrender was held on a pier by the side of the Cruiser San Diego under the shadow of a giant skeleton port crane, beneath a blazing sun. It was hardly a ceremony to bolster the ego of face-saving, pageant-loving Nipponese naval officers as they yielded control of the Japanese navy's administrative center.

Driven to the surrender scene in a Domei, Japanese agency, press car, Vice-Adm. Michitaro Totsuka, commander of the naval base and of Japan's first naval district, rode past battered tin and concrete buildings which housed the empire's largest naval repair and construction yards.

Nervous and Annoyed

He alighted from the car and stood—silent, nervous and annoyed — while American marines formed an honor guard. Totsuka, a short, plump, elderly man clad in black shoes, green naval uniform and white gloves, repeatedly mopped his perspiring brow with a white handkerchief and impatiently brushed at his graying mustache. There were dark circles under his eyes.

Impassively waiting at his side were his chief of staff, Rear Adm. Masaharu Kawabata, and a middle aged Japanese civilian who spoke excellent English. Admiral Totsuka wore nine battle ribbons and decorations in three rows on his chest.

After the Japanese party had waited 10 minutes American naval officers came down the gangplanks of the San Diego at 11 o'clock. Leading them were Rear Admiral Robert Carney, chief of staff to Admiral William F. Halsey, and Rear Admiral Oscar C. Badger, naval task group commander.

They paused and the Japanese walked 30 feet to meet them. All four admirals saluted. They didn't shake hands.

New stories of Japanese terror came both from China and Japan. Eight American fliers who participated in the first bombing attack on Tokyo told in Shanghai of being beaten until they were black and blue from knee to hip.

Marine and naval forces swarming into the Yokosuka area found 500 wounded and sick prisoners of war in a "hell hole" miscalled a hospital, "suffering from the worst malnutrition imaginable." Among them was Maj. Gregory Boyington of Okanogan, Wash., 26-plane marine ace of the South Pacific.

Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan and most famed of all war prisoners, arrived in Manila from Chungking on his way to witness the signing of Japan's surrender Sunday aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay.

Occupation Began Early

The machine-like occupation of Nippon began at 6 a. m. (4 p. m. Wednesday, Central War Time). Simultaneously, 7,500 paratroopers began swarming down on Atsugi airfield, 20 miles from Tokyo, and 10,650 marines and sailors began occupying the Yokosuka area.

MacArthur, who landed eight hours later at Atsugi, gave the Japanese no opportunity to forget their first invasion of American territory. His silver transport plane was named "Bataan."

Seaborne forces were led by the Fourth Marine regiment, made up of veterans of Guadalcanal, Guam and Okinawa. This is the old China regiment which was virtually wiped out meeting the Japanese in the Philippines and in the gallant battles of Bataan and Corregidor.

Philippine Veterans

Paratroopers were the 11th Airborne division, who recaptured Nichols field where Japanese virtually wiped out MacArthur's bomber force at the start of the war.

There was no hitch to either operation. MacArthur said everything was going "completely according to prearrangement" and "the Japs seem to be offering us complete good faith."

Paratroopers paved MacArthur's way to Yokohama, port of Tokyo. They rode from Atsugi in Japanese trucks, driven by Nipponese soldiers with their caps pulled low. Enemy officers along the dusty route saluted. Sentries were posted with their backs to the armed caravan. Civilians stared wooden-facedly.

The same stiff wooden attiude greeted marines in the almost deserted Yokosuka naval yard.

Admiral Halsey ran up his own pennant over the Yokosuka naval base even before formal surrender was accepted by his chief of staff, Rear Adm. Robert Carney.

In a coordinated mercy operation, four ships began evacuating the first of 36,000 prisoners of war in Japan, including 8,000 Americans. Simultaneously, 134 superforts parachuted 536 tons of supplies to internment camps that won't be reached for days, or possibly weeks, by occupation forces.

Among the first 500 rescued from a prisoner hospital near Yokosuka was Maj. Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, marine air hero of the South Pacific who was shot down over Rabaul 20 months ago. Many of the 500, most of them suffering from malnutrition, fractures, open wounds, concussions and burns, were loaded aboard the hospital ship Benevolence and the transport Reeves. The cruiser San Juan and transport Gosselin were also in the mercy force which was under orders from Rear Adm. Robert C. Carney to "take a couple of thousand tonight."

Baseball Bat Treatment In Prison Camp

By Frank H. Bartholomew
(Distributed by the Associated Press)

ABOARD THE MERCY SHIP REEVES, Off Omori Prison Camp Tokyo Bay, Aug. 30 — Surviving 20 months of secret imprisonment and torture treamtent with a baseball bat, Marine Major Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, southwest Pacific flying ace, was rescued today by an expedition commanded by Commodore Roger Simpson.

Boyington, reported dead when he was shot down over Rabaul, New Britain, had 26 Japanese planes and a Congressional Medal of Honor to his credit. His mother, Mrs. Grace Hallenbeck of Okanogan, Wash., never gave up hope of his return. She frequently expressed to newspapermen her belief that her son would come back, although she never heard from him directly or indirectly.

"I was shot down on the morning of Jan. 3, 1944," the marine ace said. "I had 20 mm wounds in my head, neck, arms and an ear, and a broken ankle. My main gas tank blew up. I flipped the Corsair on her back, unfastened my safety belt and dropped 100 feet to the water, stunned.

Lifebelt Failed

"My Mae West lifebelt failed to inflate and investigation revealed 200 holes in it. I shucked my shoes and clothes and treaded water. Four Nips in Zeke fighters strafed me until they ran out of ammunition. I finally located my plane's rubber lifeboat and inflated it okay. After a few hours a Japanese submarine surfaced near me by coincidence and took me aboard off Cape St. George. The sub transported me to Rabaul.

"At Rabaul I was blindfolded and handcuffed and my medical equipment was taken away. I was questioned all night long.

"I had no medical treatment for 10 days, during which time my festering wounds smelled so foully that I wondered how the Japanese questioners could stand the stench. On the eleventh day another internee was permitted

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in contributing a guest column to Drew Pearson, sent him the following letter in typical Ickes vein):

"My Dear Drew:

"I am as willing as a mountain-climbing burro, but for reasons that appear in the timidly offered pieces herewith, it is literally true that I could hardly think of a darned thing to say. I tried first on Benjamin Franklin. It seemed to me to be somewhat labored and my very candid critic, Jane (Mrs. Ickes) felt the same way about it. So I took an entirely fresh start, again with a result of which I am not at all proud.

"I am sending both efforts to you if only to prove that, even if unavailingly, I have tried. You may use either or neither. You may even splice them together in the bonds of unholy matrimony. I have no pride of authorship. You are at liberty to cut, rearrange or discard altogether—in other words, you 'can use what you can and can what you can't.'

"If your subtle purpose was to discourage me from ever becoming a columnist, you have done a better job than I have. I marvel how you can turn out one a day.

"Sincerely yours,
"(Signed) Harold L. Ickes,
"Secretary of the Interior."

By Harold L. Ickes
Secretary of the Interior

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—When I was asked to contribute a column in order that Drew Pearson might have a vacation, I accepted in my most obliging manner.

It was one of those invitations that either ought to be declined vigorously or accepted with ostensible good grace. I did not want to find myself in the situation of the man who was invited by an eager hostess to come to dinner on a Monday.

"No," was the reply, "I have an engagement for Monday evening."

"Let's make it Tuesday."

"I am sorry, but I must be out of town on Tuesday."

"How about Wednesday?"

"Wednesday is out, too, I have to attend a meeting of a board of directors."

"That is too bad; can you come on Thursday?"

The answer was (with apologies to Will Hays, Presbyterian elder of Sullivan, Indiana, and movie czar) "Oh, hell; I'll come on Monday."

I thought that I could run off a column for Drew Pearson with both hands tied behind my back. I did not flatter myself that I could improve upon Pearson but, after all, since it is no trouble to read him, it was fair to conclude that it would be no effort to reproduce him. It must have been different with certain other columnists whose names are distasteful to me. I am not often wrong—or at least I won't admit it—but I was this time.

Cabinet Muzzled

There are some subjects upon which I could be spontaneously fluent but which would require asbestos paper for their safe rendering. I simply forgot once again that to a member of the cabinet, a discussion of almost any current topic is "verboten."

I am supposed to live in an intellectual vacuum. And so the thrusting facts and opinions that teem within my mind on such subjects as Hirohito, Franco and certain members of congress and colleagues of mine in the government must be kept in their place without benefit of midwife.

For years I have wanted to have my say about Generalissimo Franco of Spain. But it wasn't until by surprised eyes ranged the columns of the Portland, Maine, Sunday Telegram of Aug. 5, that at least I became aware that I could speak a piece about Franco.

The day before, according to the Associated Press, "the state department. . . . took another crack at Spain's Generalissimo Franco . . . " Assistant secretaries Dean Acheson and Archibald McLeish said that the neutrality act of 1926 "was never popular" in America. The general conclusion of these outstanding spokesmen was that it had not been realized "until recently how strongly American opinion is and was opposed to Franco and to the role played in Spain by Hitler and Mussolini."

I had been wanting to say this sort of thing for a good many years.

If I were really Drew Pearson instead of a poor imitation, I would give at least half a brass ring to Acheson and MacLeish. It would have been a good thing for the state department and for the country if these two straight thinking young gentlemen had been responsible officers of the department long before they became such. Then what they said about Franco would not have been so tardy.

Ickes' Coal "Controversy"

People in the federal service are prohibited from engaging in "controversies." But what is a "controversy?" If I should say that more oranges are produced in Maine than in any state in the union, as I understand the rules and regulations under which we operate, not even the secretary of agriculture could tell the world, that I had a nutty flavor. A denial of even an obvious misstatement becomes a "controversy" and therefore is forbidden. Smart is the man who, anticipating an issue, takes a public position with respect to it, thus putting a chip on his shoulder that no one else may knock off.

For instance, take the subject of coal. I have said, and it has not been denied, that many people, not only in Europe but here, will be chilly, if not cold, next winter. It is not that there is not enough coal in the world. The trouble is that it is not being produced in large enough quantities. This much I can say without getting into trouble But when I go further and declare that there are enough coal miners to produce the required amount of coal, I am stepping on thin ice. If I tell where those men are and demand that they be put to the digging of coal, then I am accused of engaging in public "controversy."

Ben Franklin

Therefore, in order to write something that even the most sensitive contemporary cannot even imagine to be "controversial," I will thumb back through the pages of American history until I come to the engaging subject of Benjamin Franklin. He ought to be safe enough and, so far as I know, he was no direct descendants. Or has he?

B. Franklin of Pennsylvania was at least a three-dimensional man—or even four could be claimed for him if one cares to give any credit to his alleged amorous accomplishments. Here was a man who was a living refutation of the bright aphorism, which had not even been coined in his day, that "the female of the species is more deadly than the male."

Franklin, as a statesman, has stood head and shoulders above most Americans in that category. I am confident that, as such, he will continue down the long stretch of time to be a colossus among colossi. In addition, he was a scientist of originality and power who still ranks not far from the top. He was a writer of parts and, as a publisher and editor, I venture to say that if he were a contemporary instead of an ancient he would be able to hold his own today with the best of them all.

I will not be regarded as indulging in what anyone might properly regard as a "controversy" in dipping briefly into the life of a man who was a great American during his lifetime and an increasingly great American since his death. According to James Parton, one of Franklin's biographers, "it was his boast that his own newspaper, The Pennsylvania Gazette, during an existence of nearly 60 years under his own management and that of his successors, had never assailed the character of a private individual, nor indecently criticized the conduct of a public man."

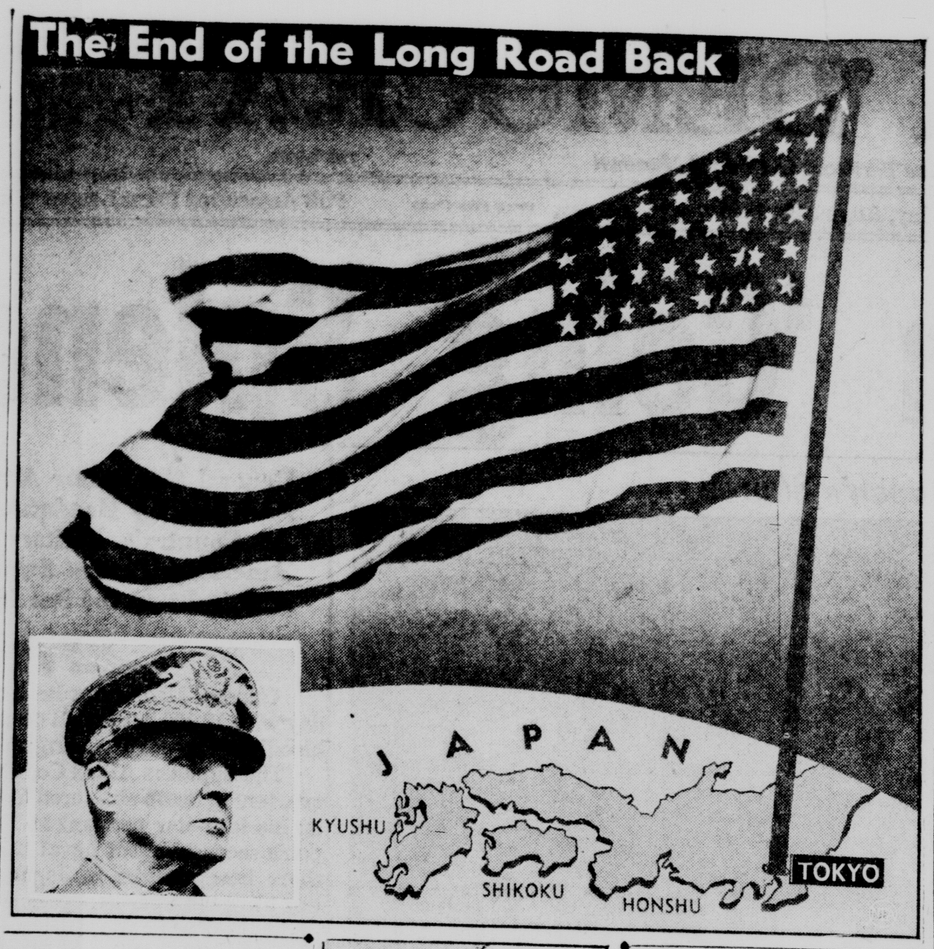

Liberty of Press

How Franklin would scream, as with ants in his pants, if he were living today and occupying an editorial sanctum in any one of certain newspapers that do not even need to be called by name!

On one occasion, Franklin wrote and published "an account of the supremest court of judicature in Pennsylvania, viz: The Court of the Press." The date was September 12, 1789. Franklin's approach to his subject savored of sardonic humor. After remarking that "Liberty of the press, a liberty which every Pennsylvanian would fight and die for," is founded on an article of the constitution of the state, he wrote:

"It seems, indeed, somewhat like the liberty of the press that felons have, by the common law of England, before the conviction, that is, to be pressed to death or hanged. If by the liberty of the press were understood merely the liberty of discussing the propriety of public measures and political opinions, let us have as much of it as you please; but if it means the liberty of affronting, calumniating and defaming one another, I, for my part, own myself willing to part with my share of it when our legislators shall please so to alter the law, and shall cheerfully consent to exchange my liberty of abusing others for the privilege of not being abused myself."

It would take less than ten minutes to read this gem of Franklin's. It is worth it.

Madame Chiang Is Returning To China

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek said Wednesday she is returning to China four or five weeks sooner than she expected because the Generalissimo says she is "needed there now."

Pausing here to see President Truman, for the first time, the wife of China's President told a reporter that "decisions must be made immediately and there is so much work to be done" as the Chinese government prepares to reclaim control of the invaded country.

Stuffed Up—Couldn't Get Bowels to Work Right

"I was so 'bound up' every meal was disgusting to me. Constipation had me down and I didn't know what to do. In the daytime I felt 'half dead'—a stuffed up feeling and it worried me half sick. Gas pains had me puffed up and I suffered real agony with it all. My Bowels seemed to balk and wouldn't work naturally. Everything I tried furnished only temporary relief. Then I tried PRU-LAX. It opened me up, the gas left and I feel differently." If you're constipated don't wait—get PRU-LAX right now. Caution: Use this or any laxative only as directed. Hearts Bleed Longest by Doris Hume © 1945, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Brock Kittridge, hero flyer, is coming home to Daverton. Thayer, the girl he had known for 10 days on his last leave and then married, nervously awaits his return. She recalls their hasty courtship, the short honeymoon, then Brock's insistence she live in his mother's home until he comes back. She is aware of Mrs. Kittridge's coolness towards her; grateful for the friendship of Brock's Aunt Hildreth.

III

MRS. KITTRIDGE retied the soft bow at her neck for the third time, her hands unsteady.

Brock was coming home. If only she might be going alone to meet him; if only. . . . There would be so many people, kindly friendly people; and there would be Thayer, so cool, so poised. She must not break down. She felt she could not bear it, somehow, if Thayer should see her cry.

She turned from the mirror to look at the many pictures of her son which adorned her room. She loved them all; they had been her solace these long months. But her gaze dwelt longest on that of a small boy lying on his stomach kicking his heels in the air.

"Oh, Brock," she whispered, tears gathering in spite of her. "I'll make it up to you. I'll make it all right."

This picture here, the one in uniform—she had been looking at the just-delivered print the very day Brock had come into the room and told her he was going to marry Thayer Wayne. She remembered how the unbelievable shock of it had gone through her, how she had said at last, "But Moya, Brock; what about Moya?"

"Moya knows, Mom." Such finality in his voice.

She had fought for time. "But to rush so, son; if it's—it's real this girl will wait for you."

He shook his head. "You don't understand, Mom."

She stared at him, seeing him suddenly a stranger. Made so by a girl he'd known 10 days, the wrong girl.

Corinne Kittridge had known then there was nothing she could do, at least not now. But someday . . . yes, someday . . .

And though Thayer lived in the house with her she never thought of her as Brock's wife, but as Thayer. Which implied nothing. For, though months had passed, the conviction never left her mind that this marriage was without permanency. Corinne felt it. Surely at times Thayer felt it too; times when Moya was in the house. Moya's belonging was so obvious; she was at ease here as Thayer could never be. Someday. . . . In the deepest place of her mind Corinne knew.

Which was why she had invited Moya to go to the airport. She had no kinship with Thayer or with Hildreth. Only with Moya. . . .

A car was stopping; that must be Moya now. Corinne, looking from the window, sighed with relief.

THAYER heard the car. Dear Lord! Could the clock be wrong? Was Brock. . . . She jerked aside the curtain, heart pounding. A girl got from the car, the sun bright on blonde hair curling below a brief hat.

Moya Sherron. She wouldn't have come unasked, Thayer thought quickly. So Mrs. Kittridge. . . . A fist closed tightly in the pit of Thayer's stomach.

She straightened her shoulders, opened the door and went out. As she came down the stairs she saw Mrs. Kittridge and Moya embracing in the hall below. They drew apart on hearing her and the older woman looked up. "Oh—Thayer. . . . It's time, isn't it? I've asked Moya to come with us, she and Brock being such old friends." She patted the girl's arm.

"Hello, Thayer; I hope I'm not intruding." Moya had a low voice, a pale beautiful face.

"Of course not." To her own ears Thayer's voice sounded brusque. Her shoulders hurt from the stiffness with which she held them under the beige suit. It was a color Brock liked and she'd chosen painstakingly, giving much thought to the rich brown accessories and topcoat. In her room she had thought I look nice. Now she wondered. Moya in powder blue and white lambskin looked like spring itself.

"Are you driving, Thayer?" asked Mrs. Kittridge as they went to the car. "Thayer's so wonderful," she remarked to Moya. "She'd have even gone to work today."

Thayer made no answer but concentrated on her driving. When they reached the airport her heart sank. There were so many people. Oh, why. . . .

She parked the car and they got out to wait. Her throat felt dry, her stomach queer. Every time she turned her head she caught watching glances. Mrs. Kittridge was nodding and bowing, and holding tightly to Moya's arm.

A voice said in Thayer's ear, "I like the way you look, child," and she felt Hildreth's quick hard grip.

Then there came a faint humming, growing incredibly in the space of seconds to a great roar as the plane appeared against the April sky. Near, swooping down, rushing toward them, stopping—and Thayer's heartbeat stopping with it.

People getting off. Then Uncle Judson and the stewardess, pausing, reaching up to help someone. A man awkwardly handling a pair of crutches, a man in a captain's uniform with his right leg off above the knee. A cheer, gathering force, and Mrs. Kittridge crying, "Brock, Brock, my boy."

They were swept toward him, his mother had her arms about him, all but unbalancing him. She was saying his name over and over and Thayer saw his face, white, thin, tense. A man's face bearing no resemblance to the laughing boy she'd kissed goodby. Then the desperate searching of his glance encountered hers. She felt tears acid behind her lids and torture in her throat. She was beside him, her arms reaching up to him, her face raised to his kiss. She felt his lips tremble. He said, "Thayer . . ." just a whisper.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

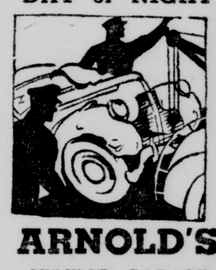

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Hugh McSkimming Named Oil Inspector

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 30—(AP)—Hugh McSkimming of St. Louis was appointed state oil inspector by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly Wednesday to succeed George Metzger of St. Louis.

Arrival May Be A Blessing In Disguise

A Tokyo broadcast quoted the Nippon Times as saying last (Wednesday) night that Gen. MacArthur's arrival in Japan, like Commodore Perry's visit 92 years ago, "may well prove to be a blessing in disguise which will open Japan once more to newer and greater enlightenment of which the Japan of today apparently stands in need."

"With the hope that this result will come to pass Japan is resolved to abide faithfully by the obligations she has assumed toward the powers which Gen. MacArthur represents x x x."

Recalling that Perry's visit was resented by most of the Japanese of that period, the broadcast said that it proved to be the beginning of a period of "enlightenment for Japan which lasted until the unfortunate events of the past few years."

American Fliers Were Beaten

SHANGHAI, Aug. 30—(AP)—Eight American fliers who have been tortured mercilessly by the Japanese still are held in jail in the foreign YMCA here.

Japanese guards forcibly attempted to prevent American war correspondents from Oknawa visting them although the Japanese consul had given his approval.

The guards held bayoneted rifles ready but finally admitted us.

One flier, his wrists tied behind him, had been hung by his thumbs while the Japanese grilled him as to when American forces would attempt to land in Japan.

All the fliers had been brutally beaten and slapped.

The fliers are being treated excellently now although still locked up. In good condition with their wounds healing, they are: 2nd Lt. Harold H. Eifler, Chicago pilot of an army B-24 shot down May 17; 2nd Lt. William R. Martin, Jr., Colorado Springs, Colo., the navigator and Sgt. Clyde J. Sellers, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., the nose gunner.

Most of the plant's 425 employes already have been dismissed, Tweedie said, with a number rehired at the shoe manufacturing firm.

The shoe company general manager said his firm had plans for a sizeable expansion but said no definite action would be made public for a week or so.

The war plant, which earned two Army-Navy "E" awards for its production of army heavy textile items, was opened three years ago.

Baseball Bat Treatment In Prison Camp

Held at Rabaul

"I was held two months at Rabaul, during which time I was trucked into town daily from the camp for continuous grilling. There were 20 other airmen in the camp but I was singled out as a special prisoner, with no prisoner of war privileges.

"On March 7, 1944, I was transferred to a secret navy camp in the country village of Una, Japan, for questioning.

"It was here that I was given the baseball bat treatment. It consist of standing with your hands tied while a guard slugged my back and legs with the bat as hard as he could. My rump was so swollen I could see it over my shoulder. Then I got slugged in the jaw about three hundred times. Similar beatings killed other prisoners in the camp.

"Even the Japanese civilians took part in adminstering the beatings. The barber who shaved our heads every two months delighted in taking pokes at us.

Beat Lt. Harris

"A Japanese pharmacist mate saw First Lieut. Bill Harris, the son of Maj. Gen. Phil Harris, who was captured on Corregidor, reading an item about Russian successes in Europe from a newspaper he had fished from a garbage can.

"The Jap called all prisoners into formation and then beat Harris for half an hour with a baseball bat, knocking him down 20 times. When Harris was finally knocked out, the Jap kicked him in the face and ribs with his heavy shoes.

"Harris recovered.

"On April 5, this year, I was transferred to Omori where politeness was the order of the day.

"We were required to bow to the emperor every morning and also to bow from the waist politely to the guard in asking the Japanese for permission to go to the toilet and then on returning we had to seek out the guard and bow again, thanking him. Since most of the prisoners were suffering from dysentery and could not conform to this rigamarole they were beaten and otherwise punished as a result.

Soup Mostly Water

"Our menu consisted of milo maize and rice in a combination tasting like chalk supplemented by soy bean soup which was mostly water. As an occasional treat a fishhead or a seaweed was thrown in.

"My normal weight of 175 pounds fell off to 110 until I wangled a job for myself as a kitchen kobin (slavey) whereon the combination of my year old hunger and the available food ballooned me up to 190."

The marine ace, who still has boundless energy, but a jaundiced complexion, now weighs 160. The first news that the famed "Pappy" Boyington was still alive came last night when other prisoners, learning of the approach of Commodore Simpson's rescue party, painted his name in large letters in the toilet.

Hirohito's Summer Home Is MacArthur Headquarters

Japan's "Son of Heaven" will have to stay in his town house throughout the rest of Tokyo's summer heat. General MacArthur is taking over the emperor's yellow-walled summer villa, pictured above, at Hayama, 27 miles south of Tokyo on Sagami Bay.

Publishers' Offer Refused

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 30—(AP)—An interunion committee rejected an offer yesterday from publishers of the three St. Louis daily newspapers to arbitrate a dispute over pay for workers who were laid off Aug. 17 when a carrier strike forced suspension of the papers

The president of the American newspaper Guild (CIO) Milton Murray, told the guildsmen that they could count on full support of the guild in backing their demands for full pay for time lost during a strike of AFL carriers.

The publishers offered to pay employes the basic wage through Aug. 31 and said the question of pay thereafter for the duration of the strike should be decided by a board of five members, two chosen by the publishers, two by the unions and one by the senior judge of the eighth circuit U. S. Court of Appeals.

The interunion committee, made up of presidents of the unions of compositors, stereotypers, photo engravers and mailers and the Guild, refused the qualifications attached.

Hearing Sept. 5 On Newsprint

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—The War Production Board's appeals board will hold a hearing Sept. 5 on an application for newsprint for a "temporary" newspaper in St. Louis.

The application, filed by Adolph J. Rahm, president of the St. Louis Newspaper Guild (CIO), asked for an allotment of 12 tons of newsprint daily.

Rahm said in a telegram to the WPB printing and publishing division that major unions in St. Louis wanted to publish a newspaper while the city's three newspapers are idle due to a labor dispute.

The printing and publishing division referred the request to the appeals board, which will hear "all interested parties."

Preparing to Feed Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—President Truman disclosed today that the state and war departments and the foreign economic administration are working on plans for the feeding of Europe, pending operation of the Bretton Woods and other postwar financing programs.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he was unable to give details since the plans were still being studied and worked on.

He said representatives of the British government would come here to participate in discussions necessitated by the abandonment of the lend-lease program.

He would have more to say about that later, he stated.

All Aboard for the Moon

Now that the Atomic Age is here, anything can happen—even trips to the moon. Above is an artist's conception of passengers boarding a gigantic rocket ship about to take off for another planet, which is a distinct possibility in our time, say scientists. The rocket, which will travel at seven miles a second, could make the trip to the moon in less than 10 hours. (NEA photo from Mechanix Illustrated).

Leonard Dowdy Is Club Guest

Leonard Dowdy, student at Perkins Institute, Watertown, Mass., for the past 13 years, gave an eight-minute talk before the Sedalia Kiwanis club at its meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon. Dowdy has made remarkable progress the past few years and has a high I.Q. He was presented by Mrs. J. C. Connor on the program, at which Frank Wagner, chairman, presided. I. H. Reed assisted Dowdy in a question and answer part of the program. The young man identified by touch, songs played on the piano by Mrs. Nellie Monegan and then, himself, played "Clementine."

Guests were: Kiwanian W. B. Thornburg, Seaford, Del.; Sherman V. Bennett, and Howard DeWolf, the latter with George Chambers.

Five Mission Man

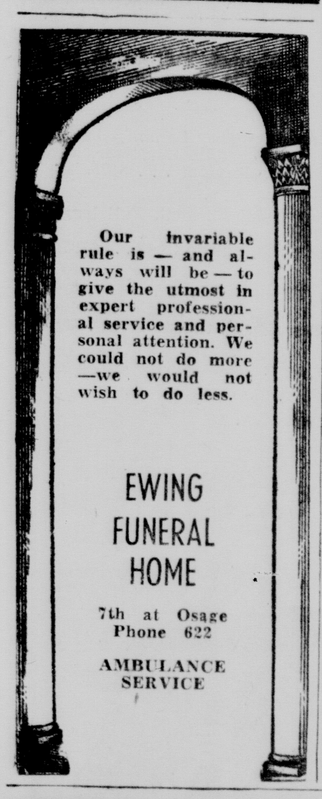

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 30—(AP)—Veteran ambulance driver Carl Emerson was not surprised when a maternity call took him to the Union bus depot, nor even excited when he had to stop halfway to the hospital and deliver a daughter for his passenger.

Back at his garage, Emerson calmly sketched a safety pin on the door of his ambulance, alongside of four others for infant deliveries made enroute

Yank Victory Parade to Japan is a Weird One

The Shoreline is Jap Homeland

By Hal Boyle

WITH U. S. AMPHIBIOUS FORCE OFF JAPAN, Aug. 23—(Delayed)—(AP)—This is one of the weirdest voyages in history—circling off the Japanese coast and waiting for the signal hour to swarm ashore and occupy the keystone of Hirohito's blasted empire.

You feel almost as if you were caught in the backwash of an atomic explosion and were floating around in some unnampered zone of space. It is a timeless feeling and only our radio contact with the outside world gives a sense of reality.

It is certainly a lazy man's wonderland, with nothing to break the monotony but three of the squarest meals each day that ever fell to the lot of any group of fighting men.

Our attack transport, loaded with dungaree-clad Marines, is in the middle of one of the mightiest fleets ever assembled. From our decks we can count half a hundred or more transports, destroyers, cruisers or battleships at any time. Beyond the horizon lie hundreds more.

Moon Is Shining

A great yellow moon is shining now and the great battlewagons slide like huge cats noiselessly across the churning water. They are dark and silent—blackened out as if they were on regular war time combat mission. Fleet Commanders are taking no chances of a repetition of the "day of infamy"—Pearl Harbor—that launched us into the war.

All day, carrier based planes circle protectively in the skies. They come in waves of 20 to 30 like endless flights of blue grey geese. Usually, each flight is trailed by some late starting Donald Duck trying to catch up.

There is something about this endless parade of might through cloud streaked skies and slow, hammering seas that catches at your throat. It is America on victory parade. It is the thousands who survived moving in majesty to claim the triumph for all the thousands who died on lonely atolls or were lost in swirling waters in struggle-filled days when a world at peace seemed a forlorn delusion.

At Sea For Days

We have been at sea for days. Except for a few rain squalls, the weather has been the perfect kind the Nipponese folders will be advertising again within a few months. No typhoon has lashed our way.

(One did, a few days later, but did no damage).

Marines walk bare backed about the decks or stretch asleep, their bronze skins unharmed by tropic sun rays. At night it is little stifling behind the hatches and portholes, closed to keep light from showing outside to any kamikaze minded Japanese submarine commander. In the morning, you can almost swim through your perspiration to the edge of your bunk. Troops take one or two fresh or salt water showers daily trying to keep cool.

There is deck music throughout the day, just as though this was a peace time pleasure cruise. Navy boys play hot tunes on a phonograph and they are blared about the ship by public address system. Several hours a day, marines cluster around radios to listen to news bulletins.

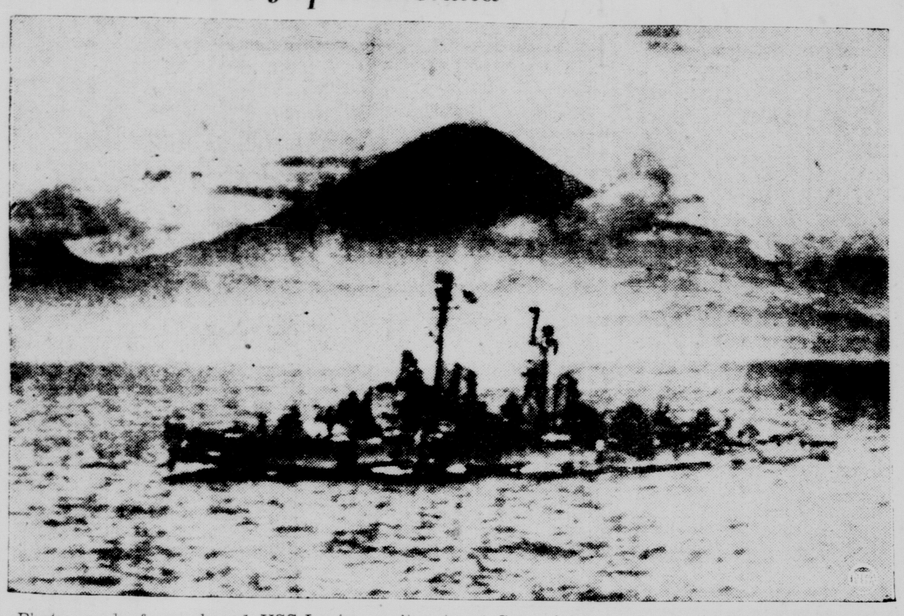

Movies At Night

At night there are movies. But the quality is so spotty that rather than swelter through B grade film banalites, many marines prefer to cuddle up in their shorts with a good murder mystery, recent historical novel or "The History of the Democratic Party."

But the best entertainment aboard ship is being furnished by the chiefs. Marines who ate C rations on their last operation until they were flannel mouthed now gorge on fresh eggs and a huge chunk of fried ham every breakfast. For lunch we had hamburger steak and for dinner big beef steaks that would cost $4 a plate in New York We have had ice cream twice a day since we came aboard.

Despite the easy life, the marines are getting tense. They want to walk or fight their way ashore, immediately.

"Until the marines land on Japan this war isn't over, no matter what they say in Washington or Tokyo," said one veteran.

Infantryman Is Promoted

WITH THE SIXTH ARMY IN LUZON — An Infantryman with the 35th Regiment of the veteran 25th Infantry Division on Luzon, Pfc. Ralph T. Yeager, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Yeager, 1308 East Eleventh street, Sedalia, Mo., has been promoted to Technician Fifth Grade.

A veteran of fifteen months overseas service, Cpl. Yeager fought with the 25th Division on Luzon. He has been in the army since July, 1943 and has been overseas since April, 1944. Cpl. Yeager is entitled to wear the Combat Infantryman Badge, the Asiatic - Pacific theater ribbon with one bronze star, the Philippines Liberation ribbon with one star and the Good Conduct ribbon. He attended the Smith-Cotton high school and was employed by Leon's Shoe store.

Since landing at Lingayen Gulf on Luzon last January, the 25th Division, commanded by Major General Charles L. Mullins, Jr., fought the Japs for 125 consecutive days on the Central Plains and in the rugged Caraballo Mountains where they captured strategic Balete Pass and the town of Santa Fe, opening the only southern land route to the vast productive Cakayan Valley. The 25th Division is a veteran outfit of Hawaii, Guadalcanal and Vella Lavella in the Solomon Islands.

Joseph Clark In Philippines

WITH A SEABEE UNIT IN THE PHILIPPINES — Joseph C. Clark, carpenter's mate, first class, husband of Mrs. Ruth Clark, 521 South Engineer avenue, Sedalia, Mo., is a member of this construction battalion of the Pacific Fleet Service Force which was working on its third major project when the announcement of Japan's capitulation came.

Just completed was a super highway, carved out of jungle and mountain coral which linked two islands of major importance. A deck, extending over 4,000 feet, which can berth eight cargo vessels,, was almost finished.

Completed and successfully operating is a waterline with over five miles of pipe which runs from two mountain falls—both higher than Niagara—to the Naval supply area. The Seabee unit dug through jungle and over mountain; fighting insects, tropical rain and mud, and cutting trails by hand, to supply two and a half million gallons of fresh, clorimated water a day for the U. S. forces ashore and afloat.

The officers and men of this outfit saw combat in the Solomons, New Guinea and the Philippines.

Compile Book On Members Of Battalion

Book Was Printed In Germany By the Germans

T/5 John W. Estes, who is in Germany, sent to his mother, Mrs. J. S. Driskell, Route 5, Sedalia, a large book in which are pictures and information concerning men and incidents of the Headquarters Battery 231, A. F. A. Battalion, of which he is a member. Pictures of fourteen Sedalia boys appear in the book, all of whom left Sedalia with the National Guard in 1940.

The book was printed in Germany by the Germans. A picture of each boy is used with information about them and many of them have been autographed in young Estes' book. Among the autographs is that of Lt. Col. F. M. Crawford, his commanding officer.

The following appeared with T/5 Estes' picture in which his nickname "Tiny" is used:

Interested In Nickname

"We cannot figure out how "Tiny" ever got his nickname. He is a well built fellow on the tall, rather than the short side. But a discussion of the nicknames given out in the Army would fill a book. Even if we must stick to the printable ones. Estes drove No. 1, half-track. His most exciting moment in battle was during the battle of Han-sur-Neid Bridge. His half-track was disabled by 88 mm shelling and three members of the crew were injured and evacuated. "Tiny" has no plans for the future except to spend a lot of time fishing and hunting."

Estes is twenty-six years old. He entered service on November 25, 1940 and was stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.; Camp Blanding, Fla.; Camp Chafee, Ark.; Desert Training Center, Camp Cooke, Calif.; and Camp Shanks, N. Y. He has received the following awards: Defense service ribbon, good conduct medal, Bronze Star medal, ETOUSA with three battle stars.

He has ninety-nine points under the point system, expects to return to the states soon and believes he will then receive his discharge.

Citation for Oliver Hunter

Oliver Hunter, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hunter, Route 4, Sedalia, arrived home from the European theatre of war on August 15, where he had served eighteen months and has received his honorable discharge from the Army.

He was awarded the silver star medal for gallantry in action in France on November 11, 1944 while serving with the Field Artillery. His citation read:

"Oliver Hunter, Jr., fearlessly braved enemy fire with utter disregard for his own safety in running from cover over open terrain to find and aid wounded comrades. After locating the men, he returned through the artillery barrage to bring medical aid and men to the site. His conspicuous heroism saved the life of his comrades and is in keeping with the highest traditions of military service. He entered the military service from Missouri."

He was awarded a Purple Heart in January 1945 for wounds received in combat and was taken to a hospital in England.

Hot Fans For Japs

If you find electric fans are scarce, consider that the copper from a dozen such fans is enough to provide all the copper needed in fabricating a 20 mm. aircraft cannon to make it hot for the Japs.

Pioneer

Lt.-Col. Clay Tice, above, of Los Angeles, is the first American deliberately to land a U. S. plane on Japanese home soil since beginning of the war. His fighter plane developed fuel line trouble while on reconnaissance and he set the craft down on a Kyushu field, to find the enemy officers friendly, showing no spirit of defeat.

PARAGRAPHS OF INTEREST About Pettis County's Historical Society and MUSEUM

Pa Pettis said to ma: "That story in Crossroads Comment last Sunday about the Houstania man who did not 'stay dead' reminds me of a story which I heard our old grocer friend telling to illustrate the rough and tumble-ness of early days. It seems that there was a group of men in Sedalia who so delighted in playing pranks that they stopped at nothing until finally they so exceeded the limits of practicticaity in their practical jokes that they caused a Negro to break both his legs while fleeing down the stairs in terror from one of their 'ghosts'; and their victim sued them for damages. This 'dead man come to life' stunt was a favorite of theirs. They even had made arrangements with an attendant at an undertaking establishment which was located upstairs on the southwest corner of Second and Ohio. One time they picked as their victim an old Irishman named Jim. It was customary in those days not to leave a dead body alone, even if someone had to be hired to sit up with it. These pranksters told Jim that there was a corpse coming in by train late at night, and that they would pay him $5 in the morning if he would sit up with the 'dead man' the rest of the night.

When Jim arrived at the undertaking parlors the 'body' was lying stiff on a board covered with a sheet. The attendant left Jim in charge, saying he was going home to bed. but instead he joined his hidden accomplices to watch the fun. When all was quiet, the "dead man" began to moan and to raise to a sitting posture. But Jim, instead of being terrified, went over and took hold of the shoulders of the corpse and pressed it back firmly down on the board, saying 'Lay down there. Yiz is not going to chate me out of me five dollars.'"

Benton Fails For Detroit; Cubs' Lead up

Senators Fumble a Chance to Advance; Reds Blast Cards

By Jack Hand
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Benton's form reversal has Detroit fans guessing today with the early season sensation running a three-game losing streak and the Tigers' lead sliced to a single length.

The ex-sailor who started the 1945 campaign with five successive victories hasn't been pitching bad ball but he hasn't won since Aug. 6 and hasn't finished any of his last five starting jobs.

The Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Washington knocked him off the hill, the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland shaded him after he had given way to a relief artist and last night the St. Louis Browns beat him, 5-4.

With 33 games to go and the race still open to any one of five clubs, Steve O'Neill once again has to bank heavily on his Hal Newhouser-Dizzy Trout combine. Newhouser has copped 21 and Trout, although way behind his 1944 pace has captured 13 and four of his last five.

Benton's defeat by the Browns came at the hands of Bob Muncrief who is just about the hottest thing in the league at the moment. His sore arm almost cost St. Louis the pennant last summer and he hasn't pitched an away from home game this season because of his job in a war plant but Muncrief has the best win record (10-2) in either league.

Muncrief probably will be able to make the final eastern swing with the defending champs, a factor that should not be overlooked in estimating the Browns' chances of a successful defense. They're only four games back and pressing.

Washington fumbled another chance to close in on the Tigers when they split a twi-night doubleheader with Philadelphia, taking the first, 3-2, with the help of a double error by Catcher Greek George but bowing in the finale, 2-1. The Nats picked up a half game on Detroit but could have gone into a virtual tie for the lead if they had been able to cop both ends.

Dutch Leonard got credit for the first tilt, although Ossie Bluege had to call in Mickey Haefner to retire the last batter and Reliefer Joe Berry outpitched Roger Wolff to gain the split as the A's snapped a 7-game losing streak.

Lefty Vic Johnson chilled New York's chances of moving ahead with a 1-0 job on behalf of Boston. Singles by Ty La Forest and George Metkovich followed by Bob Johnson's fly in the fourth inning nullified Bill Zuber's matching four-hit effort. A Cleveland at Chicago tilt was postponed because of wet grounds.

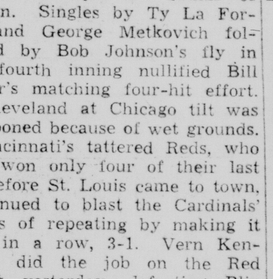

Cincinnati's tattered Reds, who had won only four of their last 25 before St. Louis came to town, continued to blast the Cardinals' hopes of repeating by making it two in a row, 3-1. Vern Kennedy did the job on the Red Birds yesterday, defeating Blix Donnelly who was making his first appearance in almost a month.

Chicago stretched its National league advantage to 4½ games by knocking off Pittsburgh, 2-0. After Ray Prim wilted in the 91-degree heat, Hy Vandenberg came on to complete the whitewash job against Nick Strincevich. With Phil Cavaretta returning home for treatment for his shoulder ailment and Don Johnson injured, Bill Nicholson and Stan Hack again resumed their positions in the Cubs lineup.

Two unearned runs against Philly Dick Barrett enabled Brooklyn to keep its flag hopes alive with a second straight 2-1 verdict behind Curt Davis. Barrett committed a balk, permitting one score and the other resulted from Jimmy Wasdell's boot of Dixie Walker's bouncer.

New York and Boston again had an open date.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Two stars of last year's all American boys baseball game, Bill Pierce and Vic Picetti, are doing quite well in class "AA" baseball and ten others signed pro contracts. . . . It will be interesting to see what becomes of the kids who starred in last Tuesday's tilt. . . . Curt Simmons, the slender Egypt, Pa., youngster who was picked as the game's standout, looked like a real ballplayer — both on his southpaw pitching and on his hitting when he really pickled a 3-2 pitch for the game deciding triple.

Pant-ing for Victory

Larry MacPhail presented every member of the Yankees an order for a new hat as a reward for their winning two doubleheaders from Washington over the weekend. . . . Could that be taken as a hint that the Yanks still don't suit Larry?

One-Minute Sports Page

Fred Hooper's Hoop Jr., which pulled a tendon in the Preakness, will be at stud for the 1946 season. . . . The tennis experts at Forest Hills, who figure Herbie Flam as the best of the new crop of players, say he makes up for his lack of size by always pulling the right stroke at the right time. But they don't believe that will be quite enough when Herbie runs into the smart big boys who'll be back in a year or so. . . . And speaking of tennis, you couldn't ask for a better summary of the rout of the South American squad than Heraldo Weiss' comment: "We Latin Americans must understand that when we come here to play we come to learn."

Cavagnaro leaves the post of news editor of the Rocky Mountain division, with headquarters in Denver, to undertake his new duties, October 1. He joined the A. P. staff at Newark, N. J., in 1930 and has broad experience as a news writer and executive in assignments taking him from coast to coast. He was a member of the general sports staff in New York for a number of years. Before going to Denver he held the post of executive representative on the Pacific Coast, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Cavagnaro succeeds Orlo L. Robertson, who resigned as sports editor to accept an executive position with the United States Trotting Association. Robertson takes up his new work September 1 after 18 years with the A. P. He became general sports editor in 1943.
